ENVIRONMENTALLY RESPONSIBLE DESIGN AND THE AGDA SA AGM

Matthew Wright-Simon

is Director of Ecocreative, a specialised communications consultancy with a green edge. Ecocreative's clients in the community, government and business sectors are united by a common goal: the need to communicate effectively to bring about positive change.

Matthew will provide an insight into how sustainability has been successfully incorporated into the everyday aspects of studio management, considered in the creative process, and delivered across print, electronic and constructed media. He'll also share his experiences of how considering environmental management has helped Ecocreative meet the rapidly increasing demand for sustainable design.

Rodney Wade

The Environmental and Technical Manager of Finsbury Green Printing will continue the topic with a repeat of his AGDA National Conference 07 address, 'Demystifying Green Printing'.
